

New Leguan Spider Lift Launch

Leguan Lifts, a manufacturer of market defining spider lifts, announces the upcoming global launch of the Leguan 170, the newest addition to its highly praised All-terrain series. The official worldwide launch will take place on 26 February 2026.

The Leguan 170 expands Leguan's successful All-terrain series, which already includes the well-established Leguan 195, 225, and 265 models. Built with the same proven Leguan DNA, the new Leguan 170 delivers the core strengths of the series like outstanding all-terrain capability, intuitive operation, straightforward setup and innovative automation. Like all Leguan All-terrain series models, the 170 is designed to be fully driven and operated from the platform, maximizing efficiency and ease of use on demanding jobsites.

Part of the Acclaimed All-Terrain Series

The All-terrain series has earned strong recognition for its intuitiveness, smooth operation and ability to perform reliably in demanding environments. The upcoming Leguan 170 follows the same design philosophy as its larger siblings, offering excellent versatility, advanced automatic functions and a unified control interface shared across the series.

This unified design allows operators and service personnel to move seamlessly between different Leguan All-terrain models, reducing training time and improving efficiency for both professional users and rental fleets.

A Cost-Efficient Entry to Premium Leguan Features

With the Leguan 170, Leguan Lifts introduces a new access point to its premium All-terrain technology. The model provides a cost-efficient entry to premium Leguan features, making it an attractive choice for rental companies, contractors, and operators seeking professional performance without the need for a larger machine.
